

The Liberal Jewish Synagogue &
The London Society of Jews and Christians invite you to

Deep Calls To Deep

Transforming conversations between Jews and Christians

A new volume of essays, edited by Rabbi Tony Bayfield, the fruit of several years of inter-religious learning and dialogue between a group of Christians and Jews, is the inspiration for an eight week course with its contributors.

Venue: The Liberal Jewish Synagogue, 28 St John's Wood Road, London NW8 7HA

Time: Tuesday evenings 5-26 March & 30 April – 21 May, 8.00-9.30 pm

Dates and Programme:

5 March	Professor David Ford and Rabbi Alexandra Wright, with an introduction by Rabbi Tony Bayfield: The Legacy of our Scriptures
12 March	Dr Wendy Fidler and Joy Barrow: What does respect mean between people of faith?
19 March	Canon Steve Williams and Rabbi Jeremy Gordon: How should Christians and Jews live in a modern Western democracy?
26 March	Rabbi Natan Levy and Sister Teresa Brittain: Jewish Particularism – Christians, Jews and the Land of Israel.
30 April	Dr Stephen Roberts and Rabbi Elli Tikvah Sarah: The Third Dialogue Partner: How do we experience modern Western culture?
7 May	Revd. Alan Race and Rabbi Debbie Young-Somers: Religious Absolutism
14 May	Rabbi Dr Michael Hilton and Bishop David Gillett: How do we cope with our past?
21 May	Revd. Patrick Morrow, Rabbi Natan Levy and Rabbi Dr Michael Hilton: Christian Particularity: Incarnation and Trinity and Jewish Responses

To register for this course, please contact Debi Penhey at the LJS education@ljs.org or 0207 432 1284. This course is free for Members and Friends of the LJS and members of the London Society of Jews and Christians. Guests: £10 per session or £80 for the complete course. This course is supported by the Council of Christians and Jews.

